

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method including searching for a pilot signal of a second communications system while substantially simultaneously being in communication with a first communications system.